A DINING TABLE DESIGNED WITH TIMELESS RELEVANCE AND STRUCTURAL SIMPLICITY

Designed for Normann Copenhagen by Simon Legald, Panel Table is a new dining table design that emphasizes the structural simplicity of an uncomplicated table construction. Using three visual elements reminiscent of three separate panels, Panel Table discards the archetypical notion of a dining table with four legs, once in each corner. Instead, the flat-packed design features a well-balanced, robust construction crafted using materials that offer a beautiful interplay and timeless relevance.

The tabletop for Panel Table is crafted from FSC™ certified pine (FSC-C163461) and pine from other controlled sources, finished with a Dark Brown stain and protective, matt lacquer. The tabletop rests atop two powder coated steel bases connected with a steel beam. The wooden tabletop as well as the two metal legs are cut in a slight angle, an elegant detail that infuses the design with an airy, sophisticated expression despite its innate robustness.

Panel Table's straightforward design allows it to seamlessly integrate with any interior and to be paired with any choice of chair. Available with either a Black or Cream powder coated steel base and an extensive variety of lengths, Panel Table accommodates a diversity of contexts and spaces, residential and professional.
