NORMANN COPENHAGEN EXPANDS THE TIMB COLLECTION WITH TWO NEW ADDITIONS

For this year's 3daysofdesign, Normann Copenhagen presents two new variants to the Timb Collection: a new Brown color and textile-upholstered version of the seat and backrest across the entire collection. These additions expand the collection's tonal range and offer new ways to bring warmth and tactility into both private and professional interiors.

A NEW TONE: TIMB IN BROWN

The Timb Collection – comprising the Chair, Armchair, and Lounge Armchair – is now available in a rich Brown lacquered finish. Crafted from FSC™-certified (FSC-C163461) ash wood, this new tone complements the collection's existing colorways, Tan and Black, while adding a natural depth and warmth to the material expression.

TEXTILE-UPHOLSTERED VARIANTS

The previously introduced Timb Chair with leather front upholstery is now joined by fully upholstered versions in textile. With a carefully curated tone-on-tone approach, each chair is matched with a Hallingdal textile from Kvadrat in a hue corresponding to the frame color. The Tan, Black and now Brown variants, are each paired with a matching fabric, preserving the chair's cohesive and understated aesthetic. The upholstery is constructed with PU foam for added comfort.

ABOUT TIMB

Timb is the fundamental essence of a chair whose clean and humble design emerges from its function. The name Timb is an expression of the chair's simple vision for the value of its material.

The Timb chair has a simple wooden structure with a richness of detail in the contrast between its curves and sharp lines. Its artisan traditions are also visible in its elegant dowel joints, which make it possible to manufacture the chair without the need for screws, allowing the wood itself to act as focal point. The chair comprises a frame of solid ash and a wide, comfortable seat and backrest made from ash veneer. For increased comfort, the chair is also available with its seat and backrest upholstered in Ultra leather or Hallingdal textiles from Normann Copenhagen's long-time collaborators Sørensen Leather as well as Kvadrat respectively.

The Timb chair's humble nature allows the design to blend easily and elegantly into almost any environment, yielding space to other more prominent elements of the interior. The solid craftsmanship is visible from all angles, and there is a distinct structure to its shape that also allows for repetition, making Timb an excellent choice not just for the home but for cafés, restaurants, cafeterias, and educational institutions as well. A wooden chair for all.
