Ougi
by Keiji Ashizawa Design (KAD)

The Ougi collection draws inspiration from the handle of the traditional Japanese folding fan, ougi, translating its vertical rhythm into a calm architectural expression. Repeated lines bring structure and quiet order, shaping the space with subtle presence.

The collection includes bar, dining, and lounge chairs. Soft, enveloping cushions provide inviting comfort, balancing warmth with clarity of form. In the dining chairs, subtly angled front legs reduce the visual and physical weight of the armrests, allowing a smoother and more natural movement when sitting down – an elegance felt through use.

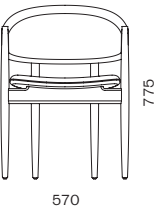

Across the collection, gentle concave detailing and delicately tapered wooden legs create a silhouette that feels light, poised, and quietly refined.

Designed to integrate effortlessly across a wide range of interiors, the Ougi collection is suited to hotels, cafés, and hospitality environments where comfort, durability, and timeless character coexist.

Pagoda
by BassamFellows

Pagoda is a collection of chairs inspired by the classic café chairs of 19th century Vienna. The chair is supremely light and compact with a structure that has been reduced to its very essence. The chair consists of only six pieces – delivering good craftsmanship and efficiency while allowing multiple material configurations. The chair’s circular seat stems from rationalization while symbolizing the “Way of Nature” or “oneness” in Chinese culture. Cantilevered arms and back subtly reference Pagoda gates, giving the chair its personality while also eliminating the need for an arm and armless version.
